The “earth” without “art” is just “eh.”

Gallery Sponsored in part by the Following:
Recent events surrounding the recommended federal budget cuts to eliminate the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA), the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) and the Corporation for Public Broadcast among others, call us to attention.

Consider the following facts from the National Assembly of State Arts Agencies:

FACT: The arts return $22.3 billion in revenue to federal, state, county, and municipal governments. A strong arts sector makes it easier for our government to balance its books.

FACT: The National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) receives a mere 0.004% of the total federal budget, less than 1/2 of one hundredth of one percent. Appropriations to state arts agencies constitute just 0.04% of state general funds expenditures, less than one half of one tenth of one percent. Arts cuts will harm communities without achieving real savings.

FACT: Government arts support ensures that rural communities and low-income groups get their fair share of the educational and economic benefits offered by the arts. 40% of NEA-supported activities take place in high-poverty neighborhoods. While 15% of the U.S. population lives in rural areas, more than 25% of all state arts agency grants go to these communities.

FACT: Funding from state arts agencies composes only 2.1% of total grantee revenue, however, these small investments pack a big punch: arts organizations use public dollars to generate earned income, secure private contributions, and leverage local matching funds. Every $1 of NEA support leverages $9 in matching funds.

From the Director

Pasqua Warstler

Here's what our local community is saying:

“The arts are gaining momentum across the Upper Peninsula as an important part of our economic vitality. Our biggest fear is that funding for the arts will be discontinued at the federal level. If that should happen, the impact from that bad decision will affect our state budget leaving Michigan behind in economic recovery once again.”

- Dotty LaJoye, Executive Director Central Upper Peninsula Planning and Development

“Here in the Upper Peninsula, not only are we proud of the Bonifas Art Center, we rely on it. The arts nourish and inspire us; they help us to weave meaning into everyday life. Exhibits, plays, classes and concerts offer us essential opportunities to create, to contemplate and to express ourselves – to come together as a community through shared experience. As a community, we need to raise our voice now and say that it is unacceptable to eliminate funding for the arts and humanities. Through facts, stories, phone calls or tweets (whatever it takes!) let's send the message that we need arts in the U.P.”

- Carolyn Stacey, Director of Escanaba Public Library

“The loss of such entities as the NEA, NEH and PBS will be devastating to our future generations. Man cannot live by bread alone. Our souls deserve to appreciate a melody, a painting or sculpture or mind expanding literature and soar to greater heights.”

- Nancy Beck, Community Action Agency Volunteer

“As an advocate for children and adults, I value the Bonifas Art Center and all that they do for our community. I find their programs especially like, summertime music in the park, welcoming and inclusive of all. I especially appreciate the Art Center arranging for special classes for Our Kiwanis Aktion Club and for the Learning Center students.”

- Dorothy J. Kollmann, Escanaba Noon Kiwanis

Wooden Boats Afloat:
Stories of Traditional Boat Building in Michigan’s Upper Peninsula
July 15 – September 7

This exhibit is a Michigan Humanities Council project that documents for the first time the wooden boat-building heritage of the Upper Peninsula. The exhibit looks at the role of wooden boats in the U.P.’s economic, social, and cultural settings.

Contributions include input from boat enthusiasts and experts from restoration boatyards, Huron Mtn. Club, Westshore Fishing Museum, commercial fishermen, and rowing clubs.

Special features include displays on the Great Lakes Boat Building School and Birch Bark Canoes.

“This exploration of wooden boat-building will be of interest to many of us involved today in preserving the rich history of boat-building in Michigan.” Scott Peters, Curator of Collections for the State of Michigan.

“Wooden Boats” is made possible in part by a grant from the Michigan Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Any views, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed in this project do not necessarily reflect those of the National Endowment for the Humanities or the Michigan Humanities Council.

Senior Art:
Bonifas: 2nd & 4th Tuesday; May & June; 1 - 3 pm
Gladstone Senior Center: 2nd Friday; May & June; 1 - 3 pm

Free: Please register at the Bonifas art center so we have enough supplies on hand for the class.

The Senior Art program continues this Spring at the Bonifas and Gladstone Senior Center. Ceramic Pottery with Al Hansen will be available at the Bonifas, and Yarn Art in Gladstone along with Beginner Jewelry at both the Bonifas and Gladstone with Diane Kribs-Mays. All sessions run from 1-3, but linger awhile and enjoy coffee and conversation after each session!

Ceramic Pottery at Bonifas: May 9 & 23
Al Hansen will lead the group in creating a beautiful piece of ceramic art. The class will start with stamping, shaping and texturing with dry plants. On the 23 the shapes will be glazed.

Yarn Art at Gladstone: May 12
She will use yarns, pieces of plastic or glass, beads and fabric to create a framed piece of art.

Beginner Jewelry: Earrings
At the Bonifas: June 6
Students will learn the basics of jewelry making with putting together pairs of earrings.

Beginner Jewelry: Bracelets /Necklaces
In Gladstone: June 9
At the Bonifas: June 20
Students will be making Bracelets and Necklaces. Seniors will learn simple bead stringing while making either a bracelet or necklace along with techniques on how to start and finish a piece of jewelry.

Bead choices may be small so bringing a pair of magnifying glasses suggested.

Waterfront Art Festival
Saturday, August 5, 2017
10:00 - 4:00 pm

The Waterfront Art Festival, the area's largest and longest running arts festival, will once again set up in beautiful Ludington Park. Artists from all over the Upper Peninsula and more will display their works at booths set up near the Karas Bandshell. Everything from jewelry, photography, pottery and much more will be available for purchase. The Waterfront will also be hosting the Young Artist’s Market, where kids will set up shop to sell their own handmade artwork.

Waterfront Art Festival has something for everyone. In addition to the artist’s booths there will be a kid's activities tent where children can create their own artwork, a great selection of food vendors on hand to fill your appetite, live entertainment ranging from Barbershop quartets to Belly Dancing, and our annual fundraising art raffle tent where you can have the chance to win a prize or two.

This year, we will also have our Family fun day going along side the Waterfront Art Festival to promote our ongoing exhibit: Wooden Boats Afloat. Be sure to check out page 5 for a complete listing of all the fun events.

The Button Project

The Bonifas has embarked on a new fundraiser with proceeds going directly into our youth art programming.

Sport a button featuring original artwork while supporting a great cause.

These one of a kind collectables will be available at the Young Artist Market during the Waterfront Arts Festival.

The artwork was created by students during the Youth In Art Receptions.

Supporting the Button Project will help the Bonifas continue its mission to reach out and inspire area youth.
