So why the U.P. Cycle Exhibit now?

The average American tosses 4.4 pounds of trash every single day. It may not seem all that astonishing on the surface, but with 327.2 million people living in the United States, that is roughly 719,840 tons of daily garbage — enough to fill 63,000 garbage trucks. The yearly tonnage amount totals about 262,021,760 — and that is just the US alone! The time has come for artists to rise up and help solve this problem, creatively!

Earth Day, April 22, is fast approaching — what better time than now to start to heal our planet? This exhibit poses a fun challenge for artists to look at every day items that we would normally throw away and find a way to reuse, repurpose, and recycle them into artwork.

We hope to foster these new partnerships as these businesses stand behind the idea of recycling so please visit these locations for your materials. This opportunity helps out everyone involved including you, the artist!

We have worked with local businesses to find some unique ways to get supplies for your artwork. Goodwill and St. Vincent DePaul are giving discounts on purchases (see coupons) on donated items and the Delta Wide Recycling center is offering access to piles of goodies — just ask for Paula or James and they will show you the items up for grabs. Please visit http://dswma.org/ for hours and location.

Eligibility & Conditions: This exhibit is open to all artists age 16 or older who want to save the planet, one piece of art at a time! All work must be the artists’ own design and original in concept and execution. The work must have been created within the last two years and not previously exhibited at the Bonifas. Works in any medium qualify for entry. The only requirement is the work must be made up of 85% reused, recycled, and repurposed material (donated items qualify). All works on exhibition will be insured while on the premises.

Artwork Submissions: All work must be ready to display for exhibition. Your entry grants permission for the Bonifas to photograph your work. Photos are only for promotional or educational purposes. The Bonifas reserves the right to refuse art submissions due to gallery size limitations and standard of quality. Special to this exhibit: please be sure items are clean and free of debris (no food or other items). Please list all items used in your work in the “Medium” section - attach a list if needed. We will be compiling a list of ALL the items used in this exhibit to bring understanding to the public the importance of recycling and to highlight how creative you are as an artist! Thank you! -Kate Oman, Gallery Coordinator
